Press Release*Silicon Motion Technology Corporation Updates Guidance for First Quarter 2006

Tuesday April 4, 5:00 pm ET

TAIPEI, Taiwan, R.O.C., April 4 /Xinhua-PRNewswire/ — Silicon Motion Technology Corporation (Nasdaq: SIMO - News); (“the Company”), a leading fabless semiconductor company that designs, develops, and markets universally compatible, high-performance, low-power semiconductor solutions for the multimedia consumer electronics market, today announced that it expects revenue for the first quarter ending March 31, 2006 to be approximately $17.5 million and gross margin to be between 53% and 54%.

“In the first quarter, NAND flash memory prices fell significantly throughout the quarter, with some densities having fallen as much as 70%,” commented Wallace Kou, Silicon Motion’s President and CEO. “The magnitude and duration of the declines exceeded our earlier expectation. The prolonged price decline caused many of our customers to postpone purchases of NAND flash memory and controllers. This exacerbated the slowdown that is associated with what is normally a seasonally slow quarter. However, since early March our business conditions have improved. We currently expect our Q2 results to be sequentially better and will provide more specific guidance when we announce our Q1 results.”

The Company expects to release its financial results for the first quarter before the market opens on April 28, 2006 and will host a conference call during the morning of April 28 to discuss the results. Details of the conference call will be announced at a later date.
